2nd Annual UCSF-Showa University

Medical Education Symposium

Considering the Importance of Early Clinical Exposure

Showa University School of Medicine is introducing a new curriculum from 2020, whereby clinical training is introduced to first-year medical students. Medical educators from the University of California San Francisco (UCSF, USA), well-known for its achievements in medical education, will be invited to share their experience in implementing early clinical training. Through this symposium, we hope to discuss measures for an effective dissemination in medical education in Japan.

Date/Time
